

Associated Press
 s a trial vaccine for swine flu from nurse Peggy Hughes as his brother visit to Annapolis Pediatrics Thursday in Annapolis, Md.

ahead ericans?

w youth to be der generations
 e resistance

■ The Associated Press
 N—The alarm sounded
 eazy children in Califor-
 . Just five months later, swine flu has become strain of influenza, and y younger face on flu.

favorite chilly weather fast to be a sick nation this fall.
 y sick. One in five people —half the population? The a flu or tens of thousands

See FLU on Page 5A

hen flu needs
 ctor's care, 5A

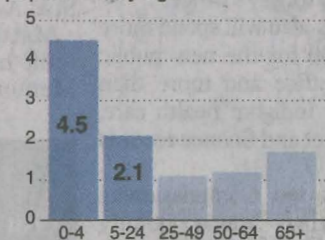

Swine flu cases

The number of reported swine flu cases in the U.S. is highest among people ages 5 to 24, while most deaths are among those ages 25 to 49.

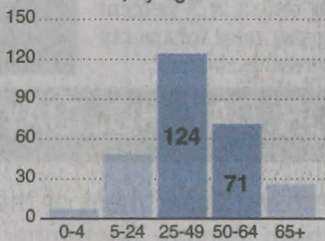

Confirmed and probable case rate, per 100,000 population, by age

Hospitalizations, per 100,000 population, by age

U.S. deaths, by age

NOTE: Data as of Aug. 23

SOURCE: Centers for Disease Control and Prevention AP

TISD drops 'at risk' from its vocabulary

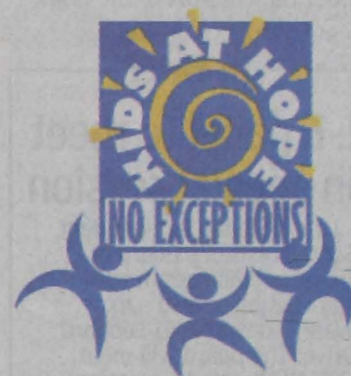

Program: All students capable of success

By MARIE MARTIN
 Texarkana Gazette

With the help of Kids at Hope founder Rick Miller, The Texarkana Independent School District is eliminating the words "kids at risk" from the vocabulary of every employee on its campuses.

This summer Miller led a professional development series with 1,000 Tiger team members to train every employee to "believe that all children of TISD are capable of success—no exemptions."

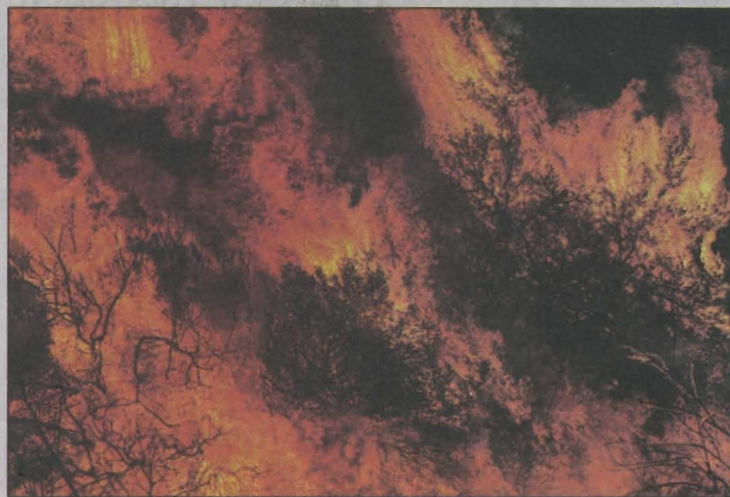

TISD Superintendent James Henry Russell, who's led the district for two years, said the district no longer has kids at risk.

"We have kids of hope. If we can give these kids hope for their future, then they are going to start working today for that

See TISD on Page 8A

■ Nation

Associated Press
 ■ A wildfire burns Sunday in the Angeles National Forest near Los Angeles.

California wildfire heads north, threatening thousands of residents

By RAQUEL MARIA DILLON
 AND CHRISTOPHER WEBER
 The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES—Wildfire threatened 12,000 suburban homes and rained ash on cars as far away as downtown Los Angeles on Sunday, spreading in all directions in hot, dry conditions. Cal

